Grand Isle Art Show

GRAND ISLE The third annual Art Show and Sale, sponsored by the Grand Isle Town Association for the benefit of the Champlain Islands Health Center was held at the Grand Isle School on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with some 22 local artists participating.

These included Elizabeth Wallace, Gay Cramer, Helen Bullis, Suzanne Graves, John T. Andrews, John H. Graves, Carol Martin, Diane Westman, Ethel Sheldon, Betty Bell, R. Driscoll, Lorraine Hislop, Helen Curran (who drew this week's Islander Cover), Suzanne Sauve, Jennifer Thorpe, Lisa Thorpe, Storey Johnson, Patricia Seivwright, Mary Saxe Littell, Barbara Clapp, Jana Jenicek and Marion Guild.

First place honors in the show this year, judged by Kevin McKeon of the UVM Dept. of Art Education went to Jennifer Thorpe for her painting Summer Table. The decision by McKeon, who has taught silk screening and graphics at Johnson State College and is Program Director of the Essex Junction Arts Program marked the third straight year that Mrs. Thorpe has taken top honors at the show. Second place was awarded to Patricia Seivwright's Spring Birches, with John Graves' Mallards and Marshes taking third honors. Honorable mention was given to paintings by Carol Martin, R. Driscoll and Mrs. Thorpe, once again. A third painting of Mrs. Thorpe's, Monday Morning, which did not receive an award from the judge, was selected as best in the show by the 166 patrons who attended. As of press time, no figure on dollars raised was available.

The plot of Longfellow's poem Evangeline, was told to him by writer Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Village Players

NORTH HERO The North Hero Community Hall was the scene for the staging of the third annual presentation of the Village Players last Thursday and Friday evenings, as this year's show, "Bring Back Those Riverboat Days" was staged before two packed houses.

The show, a blend of both young and old local talent was produced by Helen Murdock and featured both song and dance.

A review of the show by The Islanders famed critic will appear in next week's issue, but it was readily apparent at either of the two stagings that critic or no critic, the show was well received.

Using a stage, set up as a Riverboat, the cast sang and danced their way through numbers out of the age of Mark Twain, who made an appearance in the show himself, portrayed by Cliff Collins.

Soloists included Collins, Betty Little, Deborah Ladd, Sewall Beisel, Chris Clark, Edward Sullivan, Mary Cameron, Grand Isle's Velve McGarity and Tracy Sherwin.

75 Attend Dairy Council Annual Meeting

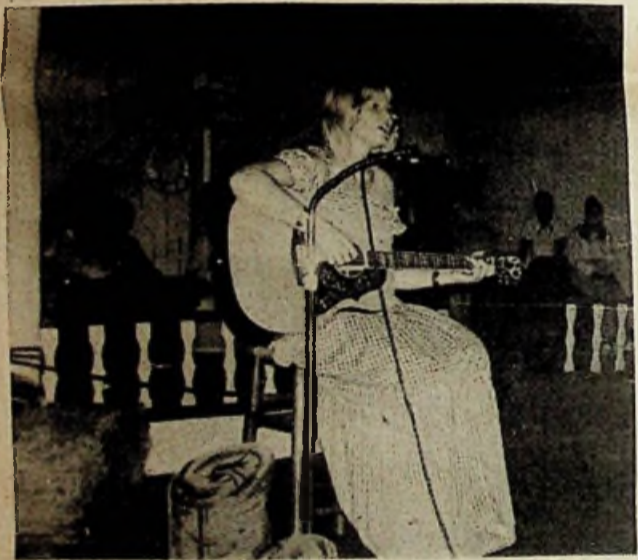

WATERBURY Over 75 persons attended the 25th Anniversary Meeting of the Dairy Council of Vermont, Inc. held Wednesday, August 9th at the Holiday Inn in Waterbury.

The President of the Council, Roland Aldrich, Jr. recognized two individuals who were instrumental in organizing the Council, Alex Riddell of Jackson Dairy in Barre, who has served on the Council since 1951, the longest record of continuous service to the Council by any one person and Robert Holden, President of Fairdale Farms in Bennington, who served on the Council from 1951-1958.

Also recognized by the Council were three teachers: Dorothy Melville of the C.P. Smith School in Burlington, Rosamond Metcalf of the Elm Hill School in Springfield and Beulah M. Pettee of the Walnut Street School in Brattleboro, each for developing innovative and effective means of integrating nutrition into their school's curriculum and for communicating the message to parents.

17 directors were elected to represent Vermont milk dealers and producers who sell their milk in Vermont, with Roland Aldrich, Jr. of Idlenot Dairy in North Springfield, Vt. being re-elected President and Robert Vaughan, Jr. of Vaughan Farms in Thetford being re-elected Vice President. Nancy Foster of Foster Brothers Farm in Middlebury was elected Secretary-Treasurer, while Robert A. Simpson of the Circle Saw Farm in Randolph and James Palin of Elmwood Dairy in Newport were re-elected to the executive committee to serve with the officers.

Shirley Prushko, R.D., reported on the Council's success in implementing the newly developed nutrition education learning system, entitled, "Food...Your Choice." Workshops were presented by the Council's nutritionists to 931 kindergarten through grade six teachers as part of this program, with the teachers passing on the information to some 22,000 students. The Council plans to conduct workshops for another 800 teachers over the next two years.

CARDS OF THANKS

Alton H. James and family wish to thank his brothers and sisters, friends, neighbors, and all other concerned persons for the many, many cards, gifts, flowers, phone calls, offers of assistance, prayers and all of the other acts of generosity during my long stay at Kerbs Hospital.

Many thanks for the generous purse of money, a special thank you to Dr. Edquerra and Dr. Rath and the fine nursing staff. I'm now feeling better and looking forward to getting back into the swing of things.

Alton H. James, Alburg, Vt.

The family of Vincent Mingey wishes to thank their many relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness, cards, flowers, and food extended us during the sickness and loss of our beloved son, father and grandfather. A special thanks to the doctors and nurses at Kerbs Hospital in St. Albans and the Mary Fletcher Hospital for the wonderful care he received at both hospitals.

Healthful Hints

From the Grand Isle County Health Council
YOUR HEALTH & YOUR DRIVING - PART 3

Who's too old to drive? In our youth-oriented world it gets harder and harder to judge a person's age. People of all ages dress young and act young. Adding to the confusion is the fact that individuals age at different rates. While no age is arbitrarily "too old to drive," reflexes and coordination tend to slow down in time. The ability to see at night is likely to decline and it may become harder to adjust to the glare of oncoming headlights.

Who's too old? Your Health Care Provider can help you decide. Whatever your age, your Health Care Provider can judge whether your vision and hearing can meet the moment-to-moment challenge. He'll advise you if it is best to stop driving temporarily because you may be taking new medication or because of some physical condition.

If you do drive, plan your trip to avoid rush hours. Try to share the driving with others on extended trips. Stop frequently for rest, stretch, and have some light refreshment.

One more pointer, driving too slowly - especially on super highways may be just as hazardous as driving too fast. If you can't keep up with throughway traffic, take secondary roads. They are usually more scenic anyway.

In driving, as in other areas of life, the elderly have the advantage of judgment based on experience. Use your good judgement and don't take unnecessary chances by driving beyond your capacity. The wise driver quits when he's ahead.

Episcopal Services

GRAND ISLE -Episcopal Church Services will be held at the Lady Chapel on West Shore Road in Grand Isle weekly at 10:45a.m. throughout the summer. Services Sunday, August 20th will be with the Rev. David L. Walters of St. Paul's Cathedral in Burlington.

Flyfishermen can claim most of the streams in Vermont for themselves this time of year. Spin-fishermen and bait devotees have long since abandoned the flowing waters of the state for "onyerbutt" fishing techniques reserved for lake and pond fishing. This angling pattern repeats itself each year and provides the flyfisherman prowling the streams with the solitude he likes. And his confidence builds with the increasing effectiveness of his presentations of flies as August peters out. Eager trout are on the prod again in September as they ready for the long winter ahead.

Late summer and early fall usually produce the best stream fishing of the year except when water levels are extremely low. But most Vermonters and many visiting nimrods from out-of-state already have hung up their rods and are scouting hunting areas and doing a thousand other things in preparation for the coming hunting season. Fishing takes a back seat.

Not to disrupt the quiet priority of the artistic flyfisherman, but rather to help make better use of our streams at that time of year, a review of some proven, but perhaps forgotten techniques may be in order for the spin and bait leaguers. There is enough water to go around, and time enough to do a little more fishing and still be ready for hunting.

During late summer and autumn, crickets and grasshoppers are abundant and many inadvertently find their way into rivers and streams. Perhaps no single fly is as productive for trout in the fall in New England as the standard "grasshopper" pattern with its red wool tag, yellow body, brown hackles and mottled turkey feather wings (light or dark) tied lengthwise with the shank of the hook, one at each side. It doesn't matter whether it's a wet fly or a dry with hackles on one end or on both. It does the job.

The spinfisherman borrowing the idea from his long-rodder friend can use the same fly behind a transparent "bubble" made for casting flies (artificial or natural insects) with a spinning rod. The bubble is usually half-filled with water to float it and still provide sufficient weight for casting. It is secured to the casting line, and a lighter test mono leader (three-foot maximum) and the fly are tied behind the bubble. The grasshopper usually will float high with this rig or settle into the surface where strikes may be seen readily.

Fill the bubble full when it is desirable to fish the fly as a drowned insect or wet fly and wait to feel the hit before striking.

A live natural insect can be caught and quickly killed by lightly squeezing its wide collar (thorax). Then a short-shanked, light but strong wire hook is carefully slipped point first from the front under the bottom of the collar. With the point showing behind the collar, the hook is rotated down and forward with the bend and point of the hook resting under the hopper. The shank and eye now extend to the front under the thorax.

Cast such delicate morsels "side-arm" without using much rod action to snap the bubble out for distance. The bait will tear off if you cast in the normal manner. Natural "flies" can be very productive. Give them a try.

SHORT TIP: Pieces of indoor-outdoor carpeting cut to the shape of the soles of your wading boots, and stuck to them with "Barge Cement" or silicone rubber make excellent skid-proof soles. They last even longer and take more abuse than the old dependable felt soles commercially mounted. Originally, this was passed along by Training Officer Ken Denton of the Vermont Fish and Game Department, and I've used it for several years.

Lake Champlain Hatchery Bill Passes Committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. The bill to restore salmon and trout to Lake Champlain continued its rapid progress in the U.S. House last week, with approval by the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, which passed the measure on a unanimous voice vote.

The committee action assures that the bill will be considered on the House floor. A companion bill has already passed the Senate.

The bill, opposed by the Carter Administration, expands the 12 year old Anadromous Fish Conservation Act to include Lake Champlain. The act, which currently applies only to coastal waters and to the Great Lakes, is designed to restore depleted stocks of fish to their former habitats and to create new fisheries in some cases.

Passage on the new bill would authorize up to $8 million in federal funds for a fish hatchery on the Vermont side of the Lake and for other steps necessary in restoring salmon, lake trout and steelhead trout to the lake. The funding would come over a five year period.

Nine Grand Isle Youngsters Participate in 4-H Dairy Show

BURLINGTON Some 40 4-H members from Grand Isle, Lamoille, Franklin and Chittenden Counties showed a total of 47 dairy animals at the Multi-County 4-H Dairy Show held August 7th at the U.V.M. Farm Arena. Nine of the youngsters involved and 11 of the animals shown were from Grand Isle County.

Carolyn Bullis, Julie Sorrell, Glenn Patno, Bruce Perry, Lisa Perry, Rindert Wesseling, Scott Sorrell and Dwight Bullis, all of Grand Isle were winners of Blue Ribbons in the Fitting and Showmanship Classes, while Carolyn Bullis, Dwight Bullis, Rindert Wesseling, Lisa Perry, Bruce Perry, Scott Sorrell and Glenn Patno had their entries awarded blue ribbons in the Dairy Conformation Class, with Lisa Perry's three entries taking this recognition.

Judge for the show was James Gilmore of the U.V.M. Dairy Department.

As a result of their placing in the Multi-County Show Carolyn Bullis, Dwight Bullis, Julie Sorrell, Lisa Perry, Glenn Patno, Rindert Wesseling and Scott Sorrell will be eligible to show at the 4-H State Dairy Show to be held Monday, August 14th at the UVM Farm.

Soil Conservation Service to Hold Public Meeting on 23rd

NORTH HERO On August 23rd the Soil Conservation Service will hold a public meeting as part of the Resource Conservation Act. Under this Act, conservation programs are being evaluated to determine if they are meeting the needs of the country. Using public meetings and related questionnaires, a comprehensive 5 year program will be developed to guide conservation efforts.

The Grand Isle County ASC Committee urges you to join in the meeting being held for Northwestern Vermont at 7:30p.m. on the 23rd at the Sheldon Elementary School. Attending this meeting will give you the opportunity to examine local resource problems, review current programs and help develop a resource conservation program for the future.

Used Book Sale

NORTH HERO The North Hero Public Library will hold a Used Book Sale on Saturday, August 19th at the library. Donations of books, knick-knacks, records, prints and pictures for the sale would be appreciated. These may be left off at the library.

ETV Summerfare Campaign Features Live Entertainment

WINOOSKI Vermont Educational Television launches nine days of entertaining summer specials August 19th during its "Summerfare" campaign. The public television network hopes to raise some $42,000 in contributions during the 9-day period and to reach many new viewers in Vermont, Northern New York and Canada.

Live TV events are featured in the "Summerfare" schedule, with five nights of live entertainment from Wolf Trap, the National Park for the Performing Arts near Washington, D.C. highlighting the live features.

Some of the highlights of the "Summerfare" campaign will be as follows:

Sarah Vaughan will perform on a LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP singing Gershwin tunes, with the National Symphony adding "An American in Paris." This show will be aired on Saturday the 19th at 8:30p.m.

Peter Seeger and Arlo Guthrie will team up on another LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP playing folksy selections from their recent album on August 22nd at 9p.m.

Chuck Mangione, the popular composer-musician and his Quartet will appear LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP on the 24th at 8:30p.m.

On Saturday afternoon, August 26th a Family Afternoon will start with the 1942 movie version of Kipling's "The Jungle Book," at 3:10p.m. "Big Bill: The Story of a Heron," will follow at 5:20p.m. and the National Geographic Special "The Great Whales" will be rebroadcast at 6p.m.

Vt. Beekeepers to Meet

NORTH HERO Vermont's Beekeepers will meet August 19th at the Warren residence in Baltimore, Vermont. The business meeting will start at 10:15 in the morning and will be highlighted by a talk from Department of Agriculture bee inspector Charles Mraz on planning the Eastern Agricultural Society meeting in Vermont in 1980. Guest speaker for the afternoon session will be Dr. Richard Taylor, a regular contributor to Gleanings in Bee Culture and the author of "The Joys of Beekeeping."

Hot dogs, hamburgers and sweet corn will be furnished by the Warrens, though contributions will be welcome. For further details contact Grand Isle County Agent, Bob White, 372-6610.

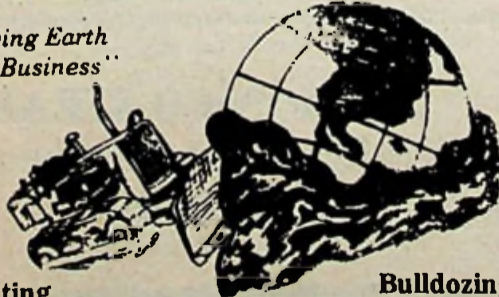

Birding Trip Through Islands August 19th

GRAND ISLE The Vermont Institute of Natural Science will sponsor a field birding trip to the Champlain Islands on Saturday, August 19th to see shorebirds, herons and ducks. This trip is designed for people with previous birding experience, and will be led by two of Vermont's most well known and expert birders, George and Walter Ellison, and will last from 7a.m. to approximately 1p.m.

To register either write or call the Vermont Institute for Natural Science, Woodstock, Vt., 457-2779. The cost is $6 per person ($4 for VINS members), and pre-registration is necessary.

Anthony Hopkins stars in David Mercer's powerful drama "The Arcata Promise" Wednesday at 9p.m. on GREAT PERFORMANCES. An arrogant, successful actor pledges his love to a young woman, but abuses her until she leaves him to his own self-destruction.

At 10:30p.m. Wednesday see a brief portrait of avant-garde musician John Cage, the philosophies and influences that govern his music. JOHN CAGE is the title.

ONCE UPON A CLASSIC presents an hour-long special called "Copter Kids" produced by the Children's Film Foundation, dedicated to non-violent entertainment for children. Three kids join their father in a helicopter chase after a villainous cattle rustler. See it Thursday at 8p.m.

"Southie" is hometown to thousands of Bostonians, most of them Irish. SOUTHIE is a one-hour look at this close-knit community of South Boston filmed by an Irish television network team. Airtime is Thursday at 9p.m.

Harry Boyle, former head of the Canadian Radio and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) talks about the media and international relations Friday at 7:30p.m. on VERMONT REPORT in an encore broadcast.

1978 DRUM CORPS INTERNATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS means big excitement when the top twelve junior corps from the U.S. and Canada compete live from Denver for four colorful, rhythmic hours starting at 9p.m. Friday.

SUMMERFARE, Vermont ETV's 9-day summer TV festival starts Saturday the 19th. Among the opening day specials are these:

F.A. CUP FINALS are an annual treat for fans of British soccer. The match played in May between Ipswich and Arsenal is broadcast Saturday at 3p.m.

Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., is known for its innovative programs for deaf students. See how it prepares youngsters for college in a signed and captioned special called THE ONLY THING I CAN'T DO IS HEAR Saturday at 6:10p.m.

Leading off a week of exciting live specials is LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP with Sarah Vaughan Saturday at 8:30p.m. Be there as she performs medleys of Gershwin tunes at the beautiful park for the performing arts near Washington, D.C. The National Symphony Orchestra fills the program out with orchestral works by Gershwin, including "An American in Paris."

"SUMMERFARE," Vermont ETV's nine-day August festival, continues throughout the week of August 20th, with live TV performances being featured. On Sunday afternoon at 3:05 catch a Hitchcock classic, THE LADY VANISHES, from 1938. Margaret Lockwood, Michael Redgrave and Dame May Whitty star in the thrilling tale of the hunt for a woman who disappears on a train ride through Europe.

Fidel Castro and Norman Rockwell are the two celebrities selected for this week's PERSON TO PERSON with Edward R. Murrow. See the Cuban leader and the Vermont artist Sunday at 7p.m.

Singer-dancer-actor Ben Vereen returns in a tour-de-force performance on EVENING AT POPS Sunday at 8p.m. The Broadway star does songs from "Pippin," and "Hair," and leaves the audience spellbound with his poignant dramatization of black Ziegfeld comedian Bert Williams.

"Poldark" is seen at 9:10p.m. Sunday night and fans of the series will want to be sure to catch this second-last episode as there is no Thursday night repeat of it.

Monday at 7:30p.m. see a brief report on Soviet dissident Anatoly Scharansky called TRIAL-SCHARANSKY. It includes a 1976 film interview smuggled out of Russia.

LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP Monday at 9p.m. it's Big Band music with Tex Beneke and his orchestra. Guest stars Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberly help

Tex present an evening of music by Glenn Miller and Jimmy Dorsey.

Tuesday at 8p.m. see the final chapter of Vermont ETV's encore broadcast of ANNA KARENINA. Tormented and deranged, Anna finally escapes from her misery.

At 9p.m. enjoy another LIVE FROM WOLF TRAP special. Pete Seeger and Arlo Guthrie, who recently recorded an album together and are performing together in concert, offer an evening of folk music from the National Park near Washington, D.C.

13 Area Youngsters Complete Poetry Workshop in S.H.

SOUTH HERO Some 13 children from South Hero and North Hero participated in an eight week poetry workshop sponsored through the joint efforts of the South Hero Community Library, the Grand Isle Public Library and the North Hero Public Library with the help of a grant from the Vermont Department of Libraries.

The workshop was held at the South Hero Community Library with Lee Kinsey, a Vermont poet from North Troy, Vt. was to help increase the children's awareness of poetry and its different forms and meanings.

The workshop included a book binding session, which gave each of the young poets a chance to learn the proper technique of binding, using their own poems as book content. A bound copy of the youngsters work was made for the South Hero Library and copies of the children's work are also available at the three participating libraries.

A sample of the work produced at the workshop is the following poem by South Hero's Deanna Carleton entitled "Stream of Life."

Stream of Life

Before the world black masses floated
Pulled forever by wings of a bird
Half dead with exhaustion it landed to rest.
Hunger & thirst sent it to puncture the flakey earth.
Out of the hole poured a crystal stream of light.
The stream was like the sun that wasn't.
The hole grew and soon, the top layer of earth had peeled like a rotten orange skin that once gone revealed the sweet ripe juices;
The steam carried life and spread across the world.
Life, like fire, grew as it spread as if on the wings of an eagle.

Life remains as light does, and light as long as the crystal stream.

Annual Kibbee Point Regatta Held - Nyes Cop Top Honors

SOUTH HERO Some thirteen boats of varying style, design and capability participated in the annual Kibbee Point regatta held in Kibbee Bay on Saturday, August 5th.

With fairly constant winds to assist the sailors, the 26' Columbia Aphrodite of Randy and Ruth Nye took first honors, with Second Prize going to Cliff McLure in his Flying Scot, Kathtina. Third prize went to Tom Dunkely in a Coronado 15, Idyl-hurst, while 4th prize went to Jack Andrews in his Lightning Nancy II.

Other participants included Tom Dunkely, Jr. in a Sunfish; Pete & Hank Jacoby, also in a Sunfish; Burt Guild in a catrigged sailing canoe; Jim and Chris Johnson in a Laser; Gordon Pyper in a gaff rigged one design called The Bull; Norton Cushman in an O'Day 22 named Blue Fox; Ellen Hill and Tom White in a Javelin, The Ellen; Ray Adams in a sailing canoe wearing a stunning Mae West and Paul and Peggy Jarvi in a Newport Nomad, Our Tern.

The first four winners were awarded apple tic-tac-toe games to use when they lose their dinghys, while the consolation prizes awarded to the other participants were overgrown cucumbers.

The racing committee for the light-hearted annual event consisted of Jack Andrews, Cliff McLure, Norton Cushman and Ray Adams. The starter boat was "womaned" by Nat McLure, with assistance from Nancy Andrews, while Ila Adams, Ellen Hill and Lupin Cushman were in charge of fees, publicity and awards. The course of the Regatta was selected by Jud Hill of Fun Run fame and Nancy Andrews.

Following a fun-filled afternoon of sailing all of those involved enjoyed a picnic at the McLure camp.

TRY HAMMING UP LASAGNA—AMERICAN STYLE

Lasagna provides an excellent, inexpensive meal when combined with small amounts of meat and cheese. Everybody loves this rich, bubbling tomato dish that looks, smells and tastes so good. The secret is using a Chef-like packaged lasagna dinner containing wide macaroni, a rich tomato sauce with beef and grated cheese. This time we've added a favorite American combination, ham and eggs, to the lasagna... the result, a dish fit for family or friends.

HAMMING UP LASAGNA

- 1 package (23 7/8) Chef Boy-ar-dee® Lasagna Dinner
- 4 slices boiled ham, cut into 1" squares
- 1 cup chopped onions
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 pound Mozzarella cheese, shredded
- 4 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Cook lasagna macaroni according to package directions. Meanwhile, sauté boiled ham, onions and green pepper in margarine. Preheat oven to 425° F. Grease a 6"x10"x2" baking dish. Put 2 tablespoons of lasagna sauce from package over bottom of the dish. Place a layer (4) of cooked lasagna macaroni over sauce. Spoon approximately 3 tablespoons of sauce over macaroni. Sprinkle with one-half of shredded Mozzarella cheese. Add another layer of macaroni; arrange one-half of ham combination on it. Continue layering macaroni, ham mixture, one-half of egg slices, then sauce. Sprinkle top layer with cheese from package. Bake uncovered for 20-25 minutes. Garnish with sliced eggs. Serves 4 to 6.

The earliest record of a police dog was a bull terrier in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, that took part in the arrest of whisky smugglers in 1816.

INSIDE TV JOEY SASSO

TV HOTLINE -- Even though John Travolta is returning to "Welcome Back, Kotter" for eight shows next season, producer Jimmie Komack still added four new sweatogs -- three boys and a girl -- to the series... Do clothes make the man? Some say no, but they can help his characterization.

Take Peter Falk, he of the crumpled look of "Columbo" and now of the crumpled look in his new film, "The Cheap Detective." Both "looks" aid his demeanor as a bumbling, mumbling on-screen detective, but off-camera, Falk says he's spiffing up his image. "I hadn't been shopping for clothes in 10 years," he said, "so Sheri (his new wife), a lovely girl, went out and bought me a suit and three pair of pants." You mean there's a fashion plate under those unpressed clothes? "Yeah, I'm dressing up," he said, "but I'm still no threat to a clothes horse."

TV TICKER -- "Grease," which grossed a whopping $23.9 million in its first 10 days, has been sold to ABC-TV for another mind-boggling sum, $6.5 million, for two showings in 1981... Donny Osmond and bride Debbie tell everybody they intend to start a family immediately, despite the parental wish that they wait a while... New neighbors are due to move in across the street from "Archie Bunker" with the new season. The neighbors are black. Rob Reiner, who plays the "Meathead," and his TV wife, Sally Struthers, will visit to find out what all the fuss is about.

ON THE STARS -- David Soul seemed all shook up by a rumor that his ex-wife Karen Carlson planned to marry Jess Vint. He phoned to ask if it were true, and when Karen assured him she had no specific marriage plans, David heaved a sigh of relief... Try to see "Evening in Byzantium," starring Glenn Ford, and co-starring Eddie Albert, Vince Edwards, Shirley Jones and Erin Gray. Based on the novel by Irwin Shaw, the story is about the time spent at the glittering and romantic Cannes Film Festival by a once great movie producer, Jesse Craig. The drama is a suspense thriller of major proportions.

The teeth of sharks are set in their mouths in rows. As one row wears out another takes its place.
